

Lailonie Johnson is one of New England's strongest emerging Spoken Word artists. A native of Boston, she is also developing her skills as a filmmaker, majoring in Film Studies at Northeastern University. Lailonie's creativity as a multi-talented artist is anchored by a deep faith nurtured by her grandparents that has led her to work closely with children and young people in the arts across Massachusetts. She joined beheard.world in 2024.