

Adriane attended the Boston Arts Academy and Connecticut College where she received modern and classical training and performed a wide array of work. She is also a choreographer and co-director of the Continuum Dance Project whose work has been featured across New England. She has danced extensively for Anna Myer and joined beheard.world in 2016.